

SCHOOL OF BUSINESS
Tenure or Teaching Track Faculty Position in Strategic Management

The Hamline School of Business in Saint Paul, Minnesota, seeks applicants for a tenure or teaching track faculty position in strategic management, with a secondary area in critical thinking.

Hamline is the oldest university in the state of Minnesota and has more than 4,000 undergraduate and graduate students. Ranked first in quality and value among universities in Minnesota by U.S. News and World Report, Hamline's mission is to create a diverse and collaborative community of learners dedicated to the development of students' knowledge, values, and skills for successful lives of leadership, scholarship, and service. The university consists of the School of Business, College of Liberal Arts, School of Education, Graduate School of Liberal Studies, and the School of Law.

Hamline School of Business houses undergraduate and graduate programs. Our vision states the School of Business is a place "Where the business, government, and non-profit sectors intersect to educate and collaborate for the common good". We offer Bachelors of Arts in Economics, Bachelor of Business Administration with concentrations in: Accounting, Business Analytics, Finance, General Business, Global Business with German, International Business, Management, Marketing, Sport and Recreation Management, and Sustainable Enterprise. We offer the following graduate degrees: Master of Business Administration, Master in Nonprofit Management, Master in Public Administration, Doctorate in Public Administration, Sequential Degrees, Dual Degrees, and a Joint Degree with a Juris Doctor from Hamline Law School.

As a result of the university's Strategic Plan, the School of Business is expanding undergraduate and graduate program offerings to meet the needs of students who will require skills and knowledge to succeed in the rapidly changing realities of our local and global communities, including helping prepare students to work across sectors to solve the complex issues facing today's society. Faculty will play a pivotal role in developing new courses and professional development programs, as well as ensuring a high level of learning through assessment activities.

Teaching responsibilities will include: Undergraduate and MBA Strategic Management, MBA Capstone Field Study, MBA Critical Thinking and other management courses as needed.

Evidence of excellence in teaching is essential. Masters degree in Business is required, with preference given to candidates with completed Ph.D. or D.B.A., or ABD with confirmed completion. Candidates must have demonstrable competencies in teaching, advising, and mentoring students from culturally diverse backgrounds, and must be committed to the promotion and enhancement of diversity, equity, and inclusion in support of academic excellence. Preference will be given to candidates with a record of scholarly publications and a demonstrated commitment to an active research agenda. Intellectual contributions and service responsibilities are required at the level of an AACSB-accredited business school.

Screening begins immediately and will continue until the position is filled. For priority consideration, complete application materials should be received by January 30, 2014. The appointment begins September 1, 2014.

Candidates are encouraged to visit Hamline's Web site (<http://www.hamline.edu>) before applying for a faculty position.
