I am extremely impressed with the quality of psychology education at Hamline.

I absolutely love Hamline, and I wouldn't trade my time here for anything in the world. I feel like I got the best education possible here, with the help of so many great staff and faculty members, and I feel like I am walking away a much more aware, well-rounded, and overall better person.

The experience gained at Hamline is a great one! It became difficult to be engaged on campus once I started commuting and working more hours.

My educational experience was excellent. For the most part, Hamline gave me access to incredible instructors with whom I developed close, personal relationships that had powerful effects on my education and character development.

Hamline is a fantastic school. Compared to former high school classmates who studied at other universities the "same" courses, I feel I came out more thoroughly knowledgeable of these materials. Additionally, as a working college student I was able to directly apply management practices etc. from courses as I was learning them. All in all, I would choose Hamline again.

Hamline University is very good at assisting people in learning about a wide array of subjects and has accompanying faculty members that really know what they are teaching because many have done it for a living.
